Turnabouts Hold Spring Regatta

In fresh to half-gale breezes the Turnabout national class with many Andover skippers held its spring regatta at the Wakefield Yacht club Patriots day. The Frosthite club of Marblehead sailed their Cape Gods as guests.

Starting out with the whole fleet racing for its skipper rating, Polly Hogan's Flying Saucer lost by one-quarter point for first place, Buss Perry of Ipswich winning with 22½ points.

In the 15 boat fleet the Andover skippers placed as follows; Gray Whipple third; Byron Smith in Sea Horse fourth; Stowe school's Stow-

Juveniles Caught In Mill Warehouse

Eight juveniles were caught in the Marland (Dundee) warehouse Sunday where they had been creating considerable mischief over the past few weekends.

Complaints of their actions resulted in a police officer being stationed in the warehouse last Sunday when the boys, all 15 or 16 years old, were caught. Entrance had been gained by one of their members getting through a cellar window and then releasing the catch on a door. Investigators are checking the amount of damage done.

Daylight Saving To Start Sunday

Set the clocks one hour ahead Saturday night before going to bed! Daylight Saving time goes into effect at 1 a. m. Sunday when time officially jumps ahead one hour to 2 a. m. The usual procedure is to set watches and clocks ahead on Saturday night so that you will not be one hour behind your neighbors Sunday morning. Commuters are advised to get new summer timetables.

Warns Drivers To Cut Speed

"The motor vehicle is killing far more people than enemy bullets," said Chief George A. Dane of the police department.

"The public is keenly aware of the number of our boys who are killed in battle," the chief continued, "but the far more dangerous killer we have here at home is given too little attention. From figures obtained through the Massachusetts Safety Council," the chief said that, "Mr. X, the millionth person to be killed in a motor vehicle accident, is expected to meet his death sometime in December of this year, and that Mr. G. I. X., the millionth military man to be killed in battle, is expected to be killed in Korea sometime this spring."

The chief pointed out that military deaths began with the Battle of Lexington on April 19, 1776 and that automobile fatalities began in 1900. The automobile has killed about as many persons in 50 years as war has killed in 176 years. In addition, during the same period nearly 30 million people have been injured in automobile accidents in 50 years as compared to 1,250,000 men wounded in all wars for 176 years.

First Returns In Nurse Drive

First response in the opening drive for membership in the Visiting Nurse Assn., of Andover, Inc., are very encouraging, Edward A. Romeo, chairman of the 1951 campaign reported today.

To get the drive under way 2900 letters were sent out last week, 400 to present members and 2500 to prospective members. Early returns are coming in and the committee is hopeful that the response will continue with the same promptness that marked the first replies received.

The goal is set for $6000 which covers expenses, car upkeep and salary of the visiting nurse who in the past year has made well over 1000 visits giving service to Andover homes.

Permits Granted Utility Companies

Several permits were granted to the utility companies at Monday night's meeting of the board of selectmen.

The New England Tel. & Tel. Co. and the Lawrence Gas & Electric Co. were granted joint pole locations on one pole on Hidden road south of Gardner avenue.

The Lawrence Gas & Electric Co. was granted three pole locations on Sunset Rock road southerly from Ballardvale road.

The New England Tel. & Tel. Co. was granted permission to install buried cable on Ayer street to Sherbourne street and across Corbett street and also a short strip of buried cable on South Main street.

Walter Pearson of 4 Maple ave. was drawn as a juror for the session of superior criminal court opening May 21 at Newburyport.

French Consul To Open Abbot Birthday Bazaar

HENRY L. HILTON

Deputy Fire Chief To Join Marines

Deputy Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton has been called to active duty with the marine corps and will leave Sunday for Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

A former staff sergeant in the corps with about four years' service in the South Pacific, Deputy Hilton will be granted an indefinite leave from the fire department beginning Saturday and will report for duty at the marine camp Monday.

Called into service last fall the deputy was granted a deferment of six months through the efforts of Fire Chief C. Edward Buchan who at the time had two other members called up for active duty in the navy. Because of the nature of their employment all were given deferment.

The department has already lost one deputy in the present emergency with the appointment of Albert Cole Jr., as director of civil defense. In his place William G. Coutts is acting deputy. Appointment of a successor to Deputy Chief Hilton awaits clearance through the civil service commission.

Attend Taxpayers Federation Meeting

Directors of the Andover Taxpayers association last Saturday attended a meeting of the Massachusetts federation in Boston.

During the meeting Andover was singled out as being the first town in the commonwealth to go on the air to explain its stand on articles in the town warrant.

Directors who attended were Louis E. Gleason, Randolph Perry, George Grant, Perez Lewin, George L. Gahm and Vincent Treanor, president of the association.

DOG LICENSES DUE

Close to 700 dog licenses have been issued at the office of Town Clerk George H. Winslow, which is little more than half the 1200 granted annually.

Old licenses expired Mar. 31, and are to be renewed by Apr. 1. Names of the owners to whom renewals have not been issued will be turned over to the dog officer for action.

Carrying out its customary plan to introduce a theme around which the annual Abbot Birthday Bazaar is organized, the bazaar committee has announced the interesting news that the bazaar this year is to recognize the worldwide commemoration of the 2000th year of the city of Paris, and will link the birthdays in a joint celebration.

The event will be held the afternoon of Saturday, May 5.

Posters in the windows of downtown Andover shops show the first Abbot building erected 122 years ago and still one of the principal centers for school activities, and the Eiffel Tower as a famous landmark of Paris. Visitors to the bazaar will be greeted on entering the school gates by the sight of a huge birthday cake upon which stands a very realistic replica of the Eiffel Tower flying the French flag. It is here in the centre of the Abbot academy circle of green that Miss Marguerite C. Hearsey, principal of the school will introduce Monsieur Albert Chambon, the French consul general of Boston, who will officially open the bazaar. Monsieur Chambon and his family will be the guests of the school for the afternoon.

Featuring many French customs and traditions throughout the entire plan of the bazaar, one of the main attractions will be a visit to the "Cafe de la Paix" for coffee (or tea) and French confections. The cafe ordinarily functions as the school dining room, but on bazaar day a different scene will surround those who are familiar with the room. Posters of the French countryside and seaside will decorate the wall panels, and a gay group of petite and gracious young ladies will move swiftly to fulfill the wants of the customers. A chef will preside over a tiny shop where one may buy dainty cakes and pastries to take home. The cafe will open at 3 p.m. The experienced and capable directors of the cafe are Miss Hope Coolidge and Miss Elaine Dodge. They will be assisted by members of the homemaking course at Abbot.

Arranged around the Abbot circle in the usual manner will be booths offering articles for sale.

Permits Needed For Fires In Open

Notices have been posted about town calling attention to the state law that permits are required from the forest warden for all fires in the open, except those in a properly covered incinerator.

Fire Chief C. Edward Buchan is the town fire warden. Permits may be obtained at the fire houses. Because the issuance of permits is guided by weather conditions, they are granted for only one day at a time and are good only for the day issued.

WATCHMAKER - JEWELER - OPTICIAN
48 MAIN STREET

Dear Miss and Mrs. Andover:

April 26, 1951

Don't be misled by the glib talk and mis-statement of facts by house-to-house PEDDLERS of Sterling and Silver-Plated flatware that these persons are using when calling on the young ladies of this area at the present time.

We present the following facts for comparison: All patterns carried in our store are standard patterns, made by recognized firms and are nationally advertised; most of these firms have been engaged in the manufacture of silverware for well over one hundred years.

All our patterns are open stock and may be purchased one piece at the time, if desired, and may be added to at any time, in any city in America.

The weight is the heaviest made in each pattern.

The established fair-traded prices are LOWER than the prices of those patterns peddled from house to house.

In our stock of silverware you will find those names in the silver crafts that are honored for their excellent product. Such famous names as TOWLE, CORHAM, LUNT, WALLACE, REED & BARTON, INTERNATIONAL, FRANK SMITH, TUTTLE, ONEIDA, ROGERS, COMMUNITY and all of the others who have contributed to the romance of silver craftsmanship.

In purchasing your silverware from an established jeweler, you are patronizing a merchant who maintains a place of business for your convenience.

Your choice here is not limited to a few patterns, either. We carry in stock sixty-two (62) Sterling patterns and every known pattern made in plated flatware. NONE of these preferred patterns is available through house to house peddlers.

In addition, we supply FREE OF CHARGE, engraving to enhance the beauty of your silver; flannel rolls, in which to keep your silverware when not in use; free tarnish-proof chests with all sets of plated flatware.

There is no substitute for QUALITY silverware at honest prices, purchased of an established jeweler.

Come in and see the beautiful array of patterns stocked for your approval, including three brand new patterns just designed and receive a gift in the pattern of your choice.

Convenient budget terms available, if desired.

Yours very truly,

John H. Grecoe

What Our Readers Say —

IF GAMBLING IS WRONG

Editor of The Townsman:

The recent cancellation of a penny social in Salem was most interesting. If gambling is wrong, as I firmly believe it is, then the fact that the cause may be worthy does not make it right.

Let us hope that our local authorities will be equally alert to stamp out this evil even though a religious or fraternal organization be the sponsor.

Let us also hope that at the carnival to be held this summer by our policemen and firemen, no illegal gambling will be permitted. Surely it would be ironic if the very officials whose duty it is to wipe out this evil, should themselves partake in an enterprise that allowed it.

Respectfully yours,
Gladys A. Hill

Our Most Important Safeguard

"No dictator can get along with an independent press," writes the Los Angeles Times. This observation was prompted by what happened to LaPrensa of Buenos Aires, a newspaper which was founded in 1869 and has long had a world-wide reputation for integrity and accuracy. La Prensa achieved a very large circulation and it prospered accordingly. But it did the unforgivable—it was often critical of Juan Peron's dictatorship in Argentina. So finally it has been done to death as a free medium of news and opinion.

The press of Argentina, with a single exception, is now wholly controlled by the government. There will be no dissenting voice, no matter what the dictator does.

Of all the safeguards which a people have against oppression, the free press is the most important. It is not a coincidence that every dictator starts to muzzle the press as soon as he takes over the government. That is a matter of sheer necessity. For when men can speak and publish what they believe to be the truth, injustice cannot long flower. Truth is what all dictators fear the most.

Tilt Your Lights

Driving at night brings a hazard not encountered in day driving inasmuch as after sundown the darkness greatly restricts the area of an operator's vision.

In order to help correct this condition the present-day sealed beam headlights have been developed. When properly aimed for country driving or on unlighted highways they give a stronger, better light but one that is dangerously glaring when thrown into the eyes of approaching drivers.

In a recent meeting of Massachusetts police chiefs with Rudolph F. King, registrar of motor vehicles, to discuss education in the prevention of highway accidents, it was brought out that more people are killed in accidents happening at night than during the day.

In this connection one note of warning was emphasized, — when approaching within 500 feet of an oncoming vehicle on well-lighted highways, TILT YOUR LIGHTS! This is an act of common courtesy. It is also the law. Police on the highways of Massachusetts could give more attention to its enforcement.

Reds Use MacArthur Issue To Cause British - U. S. Rift

The MacArthur problem contained the hazard of alienating Great Britain and other Allies, who were, and still are, alarmed by the strong anti-Communist policies advocated by the general and those who believe as he does.

A telling argument can be deduced for the necessity of solidarity among free peoples. Of course, we need every available partner from New Delhi to Whitehall. But even more do India, Britain et al. need the powerful United States.

Ever since the American Revolution there have been pockets of rancor for the British, provoked by memories, the historic Irish freedom issue, trade clashes, old-fashioned imperialism and the inherent snobbery that implies that Britannia always knows best.

Persistently expressed censure of American motives is spreading anti-British prejudice here. Americans, regardless of personal opinions on controversial MacArthur, resent the backbiting of the general by the Socialist sneering clique and the appeasement tendencies of business men dealing with a Red China that is killing American soldiers. Advice from these sources is suspect.

Second Thoughts in Albion

Lately reports from London disclose a few second thoughts. Many sober-minded British leaders are beginning to fear that MacArthur's leaders are beginning to fear that MacArthur's head on a platter may be a tragedy for England. They are apprehensive that final American judgement in the MacArthur case may result in a change in foreign policy detrimental to British security.

Several elements in the United Kingdom are responsible for the growing estrangement of Britain and the United States. First are the regular communists. Although their cardholders number only 40,000, they are adroit in stirring up muddy waters.

A British communist spy, Dr. Fuchs, gave Russia the secrets of the American A-bomb. Red solicitors obtained several million signatures to the communist petition to outlaw the atomic weapon.

Marxist orators rub salt on wounds to pride by weeping over American encroachments on Albion's glory.

"American imperialism has made British imperialism a junior partner," moans R. Palme Dutt, vice-chairman of the Communist Party, "and has made Britain a dependent satellite country. Our imperialists have sold out the national independence to the stronger American imperialists."

Nothing for Workers to Fear

The Reds cleverly hindered rearmament by fomenting strikes, ostensibly over dismissals, overtime, wage scales etc. The local boss of the Merseyside dockstrike, holding up repairs on aircraft carriers, boasted, "I'm not ashamed to admit I'm a Communist"—and added as a smoke screen—"But this dispute is non-political."

The communist line preached and published in trade union circles is: "Even if Stalin should cross the channel, workers would have nothing to fear. Your wages would go on as usual. Only the bourgeois, capitalists and aristocrats would get hurt. So why aid America to war on Russia, the friend of workers?"

An anti-American seedbed is the "Peace With China Councils," some of whose members disclaim ties with communists. They advocate negotiated peace, Red China in the UN and Formosa given to Peiping—objectives reflected in the Attlee cabinet. Part of this group supported UN denunciation of North Korea as an aggressor. Other spokesmen, as Sir John Pratt, former foreign office advisor on the Far East, declared, "It is a flat lie to say that North Korea started the war."

Pacifists Have Their Say

A small, influential batch of bona fide pacifists is vocal. Among them are certain churchmen, writers and a segment of the Labor Party, the followers of the late George Lansbury.

Pacifism is a form of socialist ideology. An exemption clause in the party rules allows a pacifist M. P. to vote against a government bill without loss of party standing if he thinks the measure leads to war. This set fears that America is bent on fighting Russia, hence it opposes us "more in sorrow than in anger."

A cluster of socialist intellectuals, whose mouthpiece is the New Statesman and Nation, is undermining Anglo-American friendship. One of its brightest stars, G. D. H. Cole, threatens, "If Great Britain gets dragged into war with China by the Americans. I shall be on the side of China, and so, I believe, will be enough of my fellow countrymen to make a deep rift in our national solidarity."

General MacArthur long has been a target of this group. Its members accuse him of proposing "a military crusade to liberate half the world from communism" and brand the idea "a form of madness." Any strong course proposed either by MacArthur or Truman is described as "suicidal."

When Washington suggested that the UN condemn Red China as an aggressor, this coterie praised Lord Stansgate for calling the resolution "crazy." It argues that MacArthur, the "China Lobby" and the Republican Party are pushing the world into a war with the Soviet Union.

Science Film

J. Arthur Danforth showed an extremely interesting film, "Texas and its Natural Resources," to his chemistry and physics classes last week.

The movie depicted in beautiful color Texas' vast resources and the countless uses to which they have been put. Particularly interesting to the students were the extraction of chemicals from sea water, the development of underwater resources, and the complicated process in preparing sulphur for manufacturing purposes.

INTERNATIONAL

the Attlee ministry takes its cue from its fault-finding left wingers. The late, Ernest Bevin who recently had retired as foreign minister after holding that post longer than any predecessor since Sir Edward Grey, was a stout champion of the U. S. A. He was the first European to endorse the Marshall Plan. He battled Russian policies to the end of his life.

Apart from the American-haters are many anxious statesmen, including Conservatives, who urge caution. Then there are starry-eyed dreamers who would employ their country as a bridge between Washington and Peiping and between Washington and Moscow. By a love pat here and a frown there they hope to keep Uncle Sam from fighting the Russian bear.

Old England throughout history has been accustomed to doing business with nations whose ideologies she loathed. Young America is more direct and sincere in meeting moral issues. To us, as Woodrow Wilson said, righteousness is more precious than peace.

Along with idealism, Americans are practical. Since many of us believe communism aims to destroy America and rule the world, we are firmly resolved to take whatever steps are necessary to prevent the Reds from carrying out our death sentence.

We can understand some of the reasons why Britain may find flaws in our policies. But Britain will make a catastrophic blunder if she doesn't try to understand the American emotional reaction to moral obligations and the American iron will to win the struggle against communism.

IT ISN'T NICE TO HANDLE
GARBAGE

No—it isn't pleasant gathering up food waste in an ordinary sink!

Of course, you have your spatula, colander and other tools to help you—but after all, there's only one effective way to pick it up—and that's with your hands!

After a meal, it's unpleasant to scrape dishes and empty the food waste into a paper bag—or into an under-the-sink container.

Wrapping garbage and carrying it to the outside container is a repulsive task. So is the job of cleaning the containers after the collector has emptied them.

No! It ISN'T nice to handle garbage.

BUT YOU DON'T HAVE TO HANDLE IT ANY MORE

The General Electric Disposall,* installed in your kitchen sink, removes food waste before it becomes garbage.

As you prepare a meal, simply drop peelings, pits, bones, and similar food waste into the drain opening of the sink. When you're ready, put the Safety Twistop

Control in the opening and give it a single twist to the left.

Turn on the cold water. Like magic—the Disposall shreds all the waste to tiny particles that flush freely down the drain! That's all you have to do—it's a matter of only of seconds.

DISPOSALL REMOVES
FOOD WASTE BEFORE
IT BECOMES GARBAGE

After meals, scrape the food from the dishes into the Disposall opening. Throw in bones, gristle, waste paper, pits, corn husks—almost anything. Twist the Safety Control, turn on the cold water, and swish—food waste is gone!

It's safe—hands can't get into the machinery. The Disposall will operate only when cold water is running in sufficient volume and when the Safety Twistop Control is locked in place.

And the Disposall is self-cleaning—it and your sink remain glistening clean and odorless. When not in use, the Disposall permits your sink to be used as an ordinary sink. The Safety Twistop Control acts also as a sink strainer and stopper.

The Disposall fits any sink with a 3½ to 4-inch drain opening. Usable with sewer or septic tank. Easy to transfer to your new home if you move.

* General Electric's registered trade-mark for its food-waste disposal appliance.

PUNCHARD 9, WILMINGTON 8
 In a nerve-tingling finish Punchard eked out a 9 to 8 victory over Wilmington here last Friday afternoon. Trailing going into the eighth, the Blue and Gold staged a five-run rally that gave them a comfortable lead, but the visitors came back in the first half of the ninth to score three times and had two more runners on base when the final out was made.

Wilmington lost three runs in the third when with two on base Baldwin smashed a drive to deep center and circled the bases, only to be declared out for not touching first base on his way around, none of the runs counting.
